

|                                    |                                                                                                                                             |            |
|------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------|
| Editorial .....             | Hartmut HerrmannPhysical Chemistry of the Climate and the Atmosphere                                                             | 141 |
| Opening Speech .....        | Robert FrankeNavigating the crossroads: The scientist's role in an era of change                                                 | 143 |
| by the First Chairman ..... | Merete BildeAerosols, chemistry and clouds                                                                                       | 146 |
| Atmospheric chemistry ..... | Jozef LengyelTracking the first steps of aerosol nucleation with subnanometer-sized particles                                    | 149 |
|                                    | Jessica C. Hartmann, Christian van der Linde, Martin K. BeyerCluster models for acid displacement reactions on sea salt aerosols | 152 |
|                                    | Tillmann ButtersackThe composition of aqueous interfaces as foundation for multiphase chemistry                                  | 155 |
| Keynote speeches .....      | Beppo HartwigLigand exchange in a supersonic expansion                                                                           | 157 |
|                                    | Björn BastianTrapping single nanoparticles in the gas phase to perform action spectroscopy                                       | 160 |
|                                    | Linda ZedlerRedox-sensitive spectroscopy - probing intermediate states in electron transfer cascades                             | 163 |
| Awards .....                | Marius GerlachVUV and soft X-ray spectroscopy of an interstellar molecule: Fulminic acid HCNO                                    | 168 |
|                                    | Lars MohrhusenMore than supports: Modified oxides as versatile platforms for sustainable (photo-)catalysis                       | 170 |
|                                    | Joachim HeberleLaudatory speech for Dr. Jacek Kozuch on receiving the Nernst-Haber-Bodenstein Prize 2025                         | 174 |
|                                    | Charlotte BiggLaudatory speech for Prof. Dr. Paola Bertucci on receiving the Paul Bunge Prize 2025                               | 175 |
|                                    | Katharina Al-ShameryEwald-Wicke-Preis der Deutschen Bunsen-Gesellschaft für Physikalische Chemie und der Ewald-Wicke-Stiftung    | 176 |
|                                    | Agnes Pockels PhD Prize 2025                                                                                                                | 177 |
|                                    | Poster Prizes 2025                                                                                                                          | 178 |
| yPC .....                   | Patrick KoyKenne deinen Wert, nenne deinen Wert – Strategien und Tipps für die Gehaltsverhandlung                                | 184 |
|                                    | Noah Al-Shamery, Florian SchneideryPC at the JCF Frühjahrssymposium 2025 in Münster                                              | 186 |
| Nachrichten .....           | Personalia, DBG-Veranstaltungen, Ausschreibungen                                                                                            | 187 |
|                                    | Bunsen-Tagung 2026 – Ankündigungen ...                                                                                                      | 188 |